Why do you love what you do? I love being on the leading edge of technology, learning and deploying new technology and helping others do the same.

I've travelled throughout the U.S. for work (deploying technology and training people, both of which are rewarding) and believe where I grew up (Northeast) to be among the most enjoyable due to the geography (mountains, lakes and oceans), weather (well most of the time) and the variety of activities the seasons bring. I like being outside in nature, ideally with family on walks, hikes, bike (motorized and petal) rides or just exploring a new area. When I'm inside, my go to's are learning new technology, cooking for the family or finding a new action or drama series.
